

Primary Descending Chart

The charts begin here. From this page to the end of the book, all you will find are charts. Charts with names, birth years and death years. Charts with photos and brief descriptions of those photos. The charts on pages 46 through 66 deal entirely with the children of Joseph A. and Margaret Studer. Each of their charts has a left hand opposing page which has additional photos and a story. The story is either written by the individual named on the chart or by another family member.

How to use the charts. Well, first take notice of the names indicated at the top of the chart, these names will tell you who the chart is representing. Next take notice of the grayed boxes, and the directional arrows. These two elements will guide you through the chart, leading you to the appropriate person or persons.

Oh yes. You'll need to know that I've designed the charts with overlapping information. This information starts at the box about Sebastian and Anna Marie. It continues with the row about Amandus and Francisca. Then the final overlap is the row of names which are the children of Amandus and Francisca.

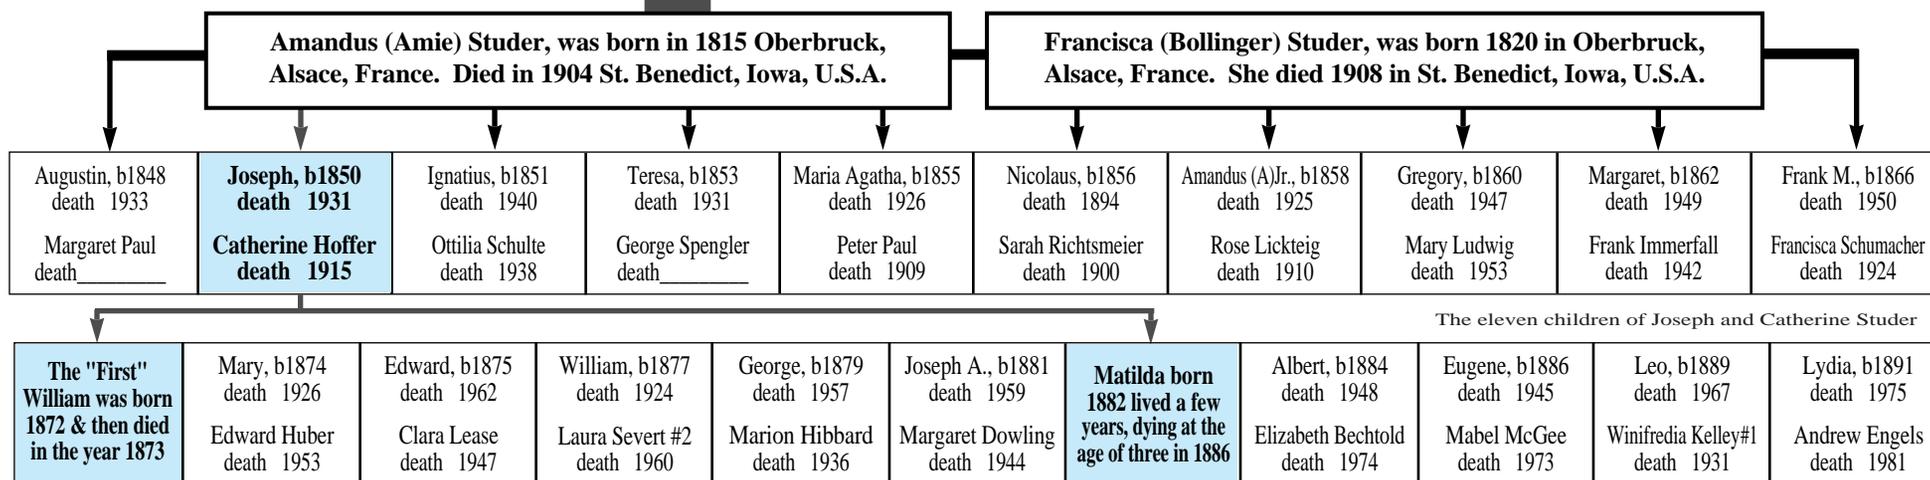

Each chart which has the overlapping information, is the chart which starts a new family section. All the charts are organized according to birth order. The only exception is the William and Matilda chart which is combined with the Key Code. Matilda is out of birth order.

Refer to the Key Code. It will give you a more indepth understanding of the charts. It indicates the information about adoption, divorce, first, second, third marriages, etc.

Please refer to the indicated page or pages for information and photos about the above indicated family lines.

William was the first child born to Joseph and Catherine Studer. We are uncertain what the exact dates of birth and death are. Similarly we have no knowledge of the cause of Williams death. The same can be said for Matilda, who was the seventh child born to Joseph and Catherine. William and Matilda were grouped together on this page to save space. It didn't seem necessary to add pages for children who had limited history.

Note: The Key Coding located to the left of this text. It is a listing of circumstances that we thought pertinent but were unable to include due to lack of space on the charts. Please look for these symbols on the preceding charts and refer to this page for definitions.
